1. Were you able to read and understand the user flow?

2. Is the task accomplishable if this user flow is followed?

3. What are some unintuitive solutions in the user flow?

4. Where does the experience have a potential for breakdown?

5. What are some important states / inputs / outputs that are omitted?

6. List all differences between this design and your own.

7. Evaluate each difference and categorize it as better, worse, or neutral.

8. Be prepared to constructively discuss those differences. You might have to present arguments for why you think parts of your design are better.
